

Collatrim

Millions of North Americans continue to struggle with their weight. After months of research and development, Nature's Sunshine is proud to present Collatrim, another of our weapons in the battle against the bulge.

Collatrim is a product containing bovine collagen - the fibrous protein in bones, tendons and connective tissues. As such, it provides an excellent source of protein and amino acids.

Did you know?

Throughout our lives, our joints take a beating—especially if we remain physically active. As a result, our bodies must constantly work to rebuild joint cartilage. This rebuilding process cannot be properly maintained, however, if we lack sufficient collagen, which is the building block of cartilage. By supplementing our bodies with Collatrim, our joints receive important collagen support they need to remain healthy and strong. That's good news for those losing weight and inches. As their energy and desire to become more active increases, their joints will be ready.
